Reasons for Bantu migration

The Bantu could have migrated due to the following reasons:-

- To look for areas with favourable climate
- To search for land for farming.
- Due to internal conflicts in their cradle land.
- Due to love for adventure

Areas of settlement and the reasons for their settlement

The Bantu settled in what is called the lake region or interlacustrine region.

Examples of the Great lakes regions.

- | | |
|----------------------------------|---------------|
| - Lake Victoria | - Lake Albert |
| - Lake Edward | - Lake George |
| - On hill slopes close to rivers | |

Reasons why the Bantu settled in the interlacustrine region

- The area had fertile soils suitable for crop cultivation.
- The area had favourable climate for human settlement
- The area had enough water supply for use.

Results/ effects of Bantu settlement in their new homeland

- They introduced the idea of settled agricultural practices
- They introduced new crops such as Bananas and cereal crops.
- They formed kingdoms
- They introduced the use of simple iron tools
- They led to population increase in the areas they settled.

Problems faced by the Bantu immigrants

- Lack of enough supplies like food and water
- Poor transport due to thick forests
- Fierce man eaters

Activity

1. Who were the original inhabitants of Uganda before the coming of the four major ethnic groups?
2. What is emigration?

Examples of the tribes under the third group.

- The Jopadhola in Tororo
- The Jaluo of Kenya

Nilotics tribes which have the custom of removing their lower teeth.

- The Alur
- The Jaluo

Reasons for migration of the River-lake Nilotes

- Their place of origin experienced floods.
- They were looking for pasture and water for their animals.

Topic : THE PEOPLE OF PRE- COLONIAL UGANDA

Subject: The Nile Hamites

Lang. competence:

i) Highland ii) Plain

iii) Origin

iv) Karimojong

Content:

The origin of the highland Nilotes

The Nile Hamites came from Ethiopia and Sudan.

Groups of the Nile Hamites

- i) Highland Nilotes
- ii) Plain Nilotes

Plain Nilotes

These people settled in plain areas of North Eastern Uganda and that is why they are called Plain Nilotes.

They lived in the Nile region.

Their origin is said to have been between the highlands of Ethiopia and Southern Sudan.

They entered Uganda from the North Eastern direction.

Tribes that form the plain Nilotes

- The karimojong
- The Iteso
- The Jie
- The Kumam
- Langi

Reasons for their migration

- In search of water and pasture
- Due to animal diseases
- Prolonged drought
- Internal conflicts
- Population pressure
- Famine outbreak

The Highland Nilotes

They also originated from Ethiopia Highlands. They settled on the Northern slopes of mountain Elgon.

Examples of the Highland Nilotes in Uganda.

The Sabiny

They practice both livestock and crop farming.

They are found in the current districts of Kapchorwa and Bukuro.

The Sabiny practice female circumcision.

Results for the migration of the Nilo Hamites

- They displaced people in the areas they settled
- They intermarried with other people and formed new cultures.
- The Iteso adopted crop growing
- They introduced new breeds of cattle
- They led to increased population in the area they settled.

Reasons why some of the plain Nilotes changed from pastoral life to mixed farming.

- They settled in areas with fertile soils.
- They settled in areas with favourable climate
- Due to cattle rustling

Activity

1. Mention one example of Highland Nilotes in Uganda.
2. Give one factor that forced the plain Nilotes to adopt mixed farming.
3. How did the coming of the Nilo Hamites affect the people of Uganda?
4. Give tribe that belongs to the Plain Nilotes

Implications of legends and Myths

A legend is a story from the past that may or may not be true.

Audio – visual (Practical lesson)

Examples of legends from different tribes

- The legend of Kintu and Nambi Buganda
- The legend of the spear and the bead-luo
- The legend of Mundu and Seera – Bagisu
- The legend of the Bachwezi

The children will read stories about different legends and give implications about them.

Implications/ lessons we learn from the legend of Kintu and Nambi.

- Forgetfulness is bad, it can bring death
- Death came as a result of Nambi going back to collect the millet which she had forgotten
- Poverty cannot stop you from succeeding

Implications/ lessons we learn from the legend of the spear and the Beads

- We should forgive those that hurt us
- We should not be quarrelsome
- Refusing to forgive can cause suffering and death.
- Permanent separation can occur as a result of unforgiveness

Activity

1. What is a legend?
2. Mention the legend which is told by the Luo tribes.
3. Why is it good to tell legends to the children?

4. Who was the father of Gipiir and labongo?
5. What was the cause of the reparation between Gipiir and Labong?

Sub topic : The Evolution of Uganda's boundaries

Competences : The Learner; Pronounces, spells and uses the words correctly.

- Boundary
- Borders
- Evolution

Before the 1894 treaty, there was no country called Uganda.

Communities were governed independently. After making the treaties with some kingdoms the British has large areas under their control and the Nation was now in their formation.

Before 1900, the present day Uganda was larger than it is today.

Former boundaries of Uganda.

- Uganda's boundaries to the East extended as far as lake Turkana and South words to lake Naivasha.
- To the North it extended as far as Gondokoro in Southern Sudan.

- To the West Uganda toledied the natural physical features.
- The rift valley and the river Nile.
- Gradually some parts of Uganda were given to the neighbouring countries and some were added to it.

EVOLUTION OF UGANDA BOUNDARIES

(The map of Uganda seen in Mk book 5 page 116)

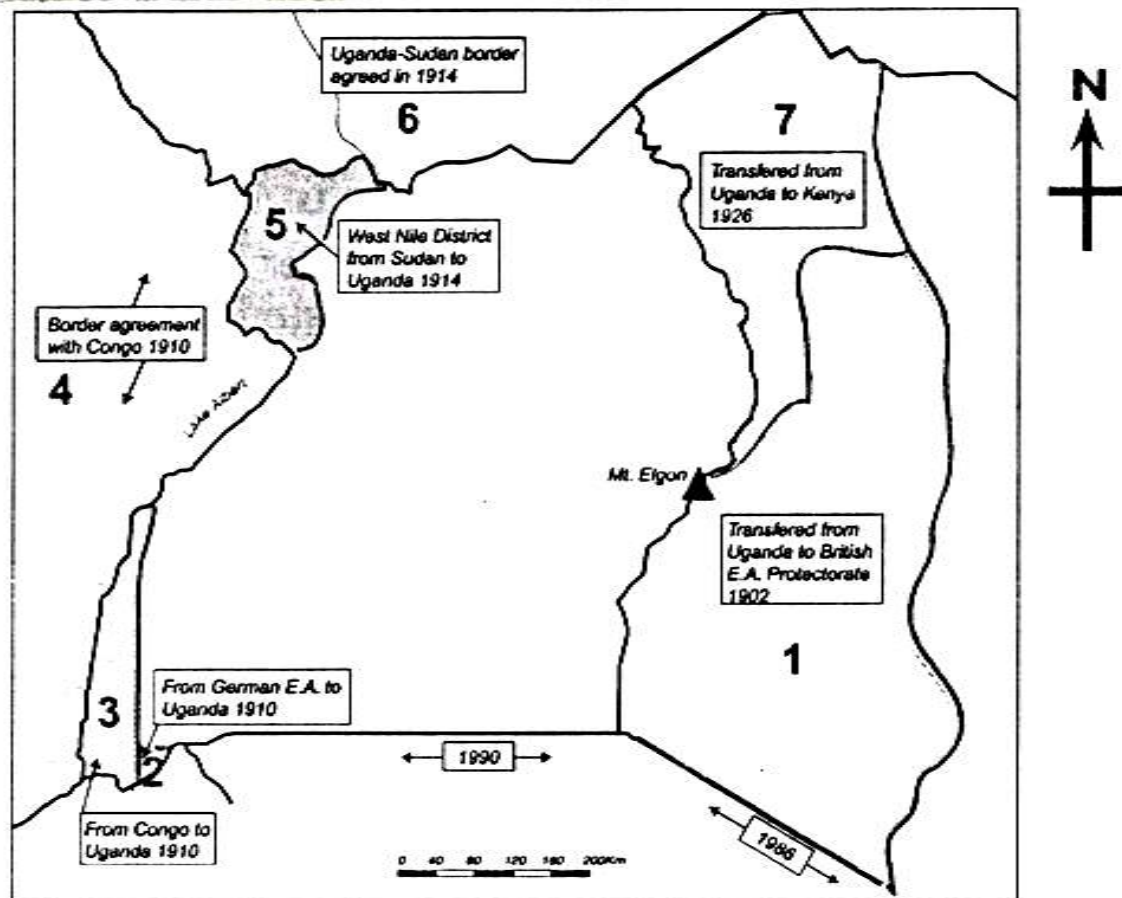

Fig. 8.2. A map showing evolution of Uganda boundaries

Reasons for the transfer of some parts

i) Nyanza province

It was transferred from Uganda to Kenya in 1902.

Identify the two reasons why the Nyanza province was transferred from Uganda to Kenya.

- They never wanted the railway to be under one administration
- The Nandi and the Mabai would be together and could be controlled easily by a single government.

- The Uganda government would then concentrate on developing the North.
